

Paddy the Green Elephant

Paddy the Green Elephant lived in a tree-house in a Banyan Tree in Bangkok.

You ask why? I don't know!

Unfortunately Paddy was a bit of a naughty elephant as he liked a drink! His favourite tippie was Chang.

He had it delivered in ten gallon tanks.

He was also a bit clumsy and sometimes after a late night he would fall out of the tree.

K-Thump! Bonk! As his trunk hit the ground!

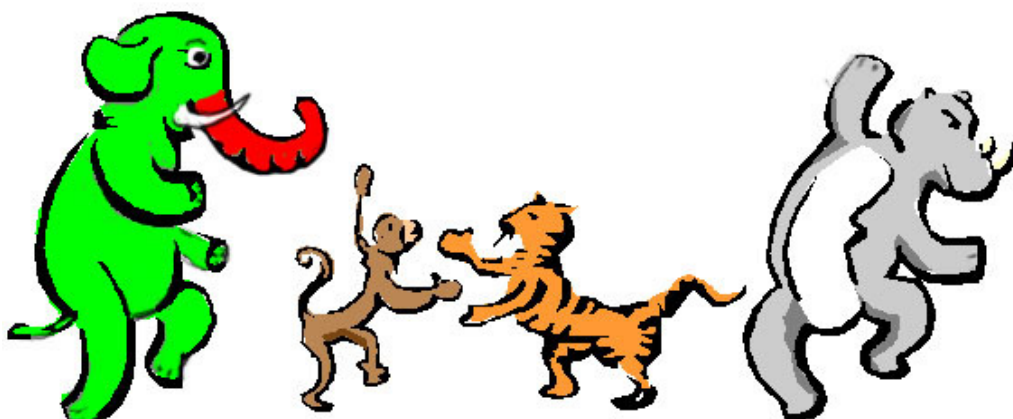

All around the tree were holes and craters where Paddy had fallen. The locals avoided the tree. They knew Paddy was a dangerous sort of guy. It is difficult to explain to the local hospital that you were hit by elephant on a night out!

Paddy was large and bulky, green as a shamrock and had a red trunk.

He had a friend a brown Booby bird who was always telling him to focus. Paddy found this difficult as he was very short sighted.

Things came to a head when Paddy was invited to a 'Jump-Up' at a wild Song Kran Carnival party. Paddy arrived a little worse for wear.

He was also a bit of a show off and decided to do the 'Elephant's Stomp!' to a wild reggae beat. Then he dipped his trunk in a barrel of iced water and sprayed everyone in range.

The party scattered, costumes that took a year to make were messed and broken. Paddy was ostracised, especially by a lady dressed as an Ostrich, her feathers were really ruffled.

Paddy left with his trunk hung low he didn't have anywhere else to go.

Now the brown Booby bird told him to join 'Elephant Anonymous!' Discussing his problem with the group he met a Hollywood producer.

Now he's a movie star and only drinks Perrier. But he looks good and does a lot of work for charity.

Especially, for 'Save the Elephant!'
Which is the Way it Goes!

* Moral : If you drink Chang Beer:- "Beware of Falling Elephants!"